EPISODE 105: A CONVERSATION ABOUT ESL AND ASL WITH 2018 NATIONAL TEACHER OF YEAR MANDY MANNING AND NATIONAL TEACHER OF THE YEAR FINALIST AMY ANDERSEN, PART II

This Friday is the second half of Stacey's recent interview with Mandy Manning and Amy Andersen, two teachers of the year who also happen to be language teachers. Mandy and Amy are both fierce advocates for their students, and in Part II we get to hear stories of advocacy and policy success in their respective work. From the Seal of Biliteracy to securing support services to changing legislation, Amy and Mandy are making a difference for their students and in their communities. Look out for this episode to drop on Friday and then share your perspective on the episode page on our website or on social media!

And check out these two great videos of Amy discussing her work!

RECAP OF EPISODE 104 WITH MANDY MANNING AND AMY ANDERSEN

In the first half of the two-part interview with Mandy Manning and Amy Andersen, we learned about they center culture in their classrooms. We'd love to hear from you about how you incorporate culture in your language teaching! Leave on comment on the episode page or reach out on social media!

Williamson County curriculum specialist Christie Gilliland (episodes 66-67) were filmed to discuss how the AAPPL was a catalyst to change their classes. LTI published the video onto YouTube, so everyone can see it.

Telepaideia from the Paideia Institute (episode 81) offers a wide range of summer classes in both Latin and Greek online. While some of the classes are full, there are still opportunities to sign up for classes that start the week of June 24.
